

GOOD NEWS

White Rock is talking about the welcome news of the placing in the federal estimates of the sum of $152,000 for a breakwater and float at White Rock in addition to the amount of $34,000 for wharf repairs.

To get individual reactions on what this might mean for the district, the Semiahmoo Sun interviewed a number of local citizens active in community affairs. Their reactions appear on Page 1.

One prominent Liberal, who refused to be quoted, felt that the amount was not enough to do the job. However, it should be pointed out that it is a start in the right direction. During the past three years nearly $70,000 has been spent here repairing the wharf. This projected breakwater, from an insurance standpoint alone, is justified if only to protect the pier.

The breakwater may have greater significance. While this area's future has always been assured, the publicity resulting may help to focus greater attention on the possibilities of the bay. Steamer service to Vancouver Island, yacht club, greater beach development, are all possibilities.

It would seem that the town is growing up and coming of age. All that remains to continue this surge into prominence is a re-vamping of its present feudal system of government. Self-determination is the next logical step to its development.

News from Parliament Hill

Bill Number Ninety-three, the Bill to revise and amend the existing statute of the Criminal Code reached the Commons last week.

I have mentioned Bill 93 before, for it has a much longer history than most of our Commons Bills. Last Spring, the Bill of the Criminal Code revision—a draft which represented almost two years work of our leading Judges and lawyers, incidentally—was tabled in the House. It is a tremendous document—about an inch and a half thick, and contains 74 different sections. The draft Bill was considered last year by the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee who made a number of recommendations for changes in the Bill. Last summer, when the House was closed, Justice Minister Gagnon's staff tackled the Bill again, and adopted many of the Senate Committee's recommendations.

This Fall when Parliament reconvened, the Bill went back to the Senate where it was gone over again, clause by clause, by the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee. In addition, the Senate's main Committee heard witnesses representing various groups across Canada. Many of the groups—Tim Burck and his crew, for example—were not too palatable to the Members of the Upper House, anyone that they would have been to a Commons committee. However, at least the fact that they were heard on the Hill—in the building where Canadian laws are made—and that the Senators took their recommendations under consideration along with the considerations of other groups, will prove to be a lesson everywhere that this is indeed a FREE country where every group whose opinions are not like are allowed to express those opinions.

Now Bill 93 will be gone over again by a Commons Committee. Has it not been gone over enough, you might ask? No, for when all is said and done, the body with the ultimate responsibility for legislation passed is the House of Commons, the elected representatives of the people.

And this revision of the Criminal Code is important. It is the first time it has been revised since 1872, and it will be the last time for a good many years.

tion of the Armed Services in suggest that in the past we have been asking too much of our Minister of National Defence and that some relief was due him long ago.

At any rate, relief has now been made for another Minister to bear part of Mr. Claxton's load of work, at the same time keeping the unity and co-ordination which has been achieved in the Department of National Defence.

All of the deliberations of the past week were overshadowed by something else—by the threat of a nation-wide railway strike. By the time you read this, it will be settled. You will remember the year 1950 when the wheels of the great railroads of this country stopped turning, and when Parliament was called to enact legislation to end the strike. This time the Government stepped in to end the strike, this time they were successful.

That is not to say that the Government wanted to interfere in the strike. Every effort was made to stay out of it—to have it settled by railway and management in the usual peaceful way of negotiation. That method failed to result in compromise between management and the Union met here in Ottawa with Labour Canada. However, we have all so had a badly over-worked Minister, who had been called in to see the General, Mr. Peakes, the Progressive Conservative military critic, admitted this when he said: "One man can do just so much." I Minister Gregg and reached a conclusion—a conclusion without a strike.

One other important happening this past week was the tabling of the Estimates. Since before Christmas, all Departments have been expending in minutes last fiscal year. Now these figures have been given to the House and the next important event will be the Budget—the plan by the Minister of Finance whereby these monies are to be spent.

I know the people of Surrey were glad to receive the news, which was made known when the Main Estimates are tabled, concerning the $150,000 item for a Breakwater in White Rock and $35,000 for repairs to the wharf. Another item of $25,000 for the purchase of site for a new public building in Cloverdale. I am always of having other items in the Supplementary Estimates for Langley Prairie and Ladner when they are tabled.

Inefficient

Editor, Semiahmoo Sun.

Dear Sir: Can the present practice of having three names for our Minister, who is to be called in? I do not think so. In efficient? I view of the present condition of that part of the road called at present, I believe, Marine Drive, between the G.N. depot and the foot of the hill could it not be changed to reflect on either of the two former partners, as both sides are equally disgraced. I refer, of course, to the road. True, before summer, be repaired, but the present system of sharing half a loaf of bread among the hungry applicants for improvement is, in the long run, very expensive.

In view of the findings of the "Fact-finding Committee on Incorporation," which state that we in White Rock could function as a separate entity at so additional expense, should not this matter be given that prompt attention it deserves? Incorporation would not, of course, automatically ensure a condition of perfection, or remove from amongst us, those who seek to continue in a state of suspended animation, but would eliminate the present necessity of consulting the Lord of the Manor, and give our civil the building where one obtains wealth, if satisfactory collateral is found. So, never forgetting that what is physically desirable, can be made financially possible.

I remain, yours truly, HARVEY DANIEL.

INCORPORATION TALK.

A Calgary friend wrote me a letter

Asking if White Rock is still getting better

And was incorporation implemented

With the for's and againsters now cemented.

As his wishful thoughts I would not doubt.

I explained the canvas house by house

And other things not yet made clear.

Just nothing definite, so far this year.

Figures have been published, were waiting for some more.

I know his reply will be, that's heard all that before.

Great that he has, it's wise to take more time.

Grant not wishful thinking, is your position also mine.

Mightme some opinion, it's been done and said

Is just talk and talk and talk, till most of us are dead.

I was a worrying time . . . when it should have been a happy one.

The stork was flying our way, but We didn't have the money needed to welcome our new baby. After going over our finances for the umpteenth time, we decided there was nothing for us, to cash our bonds. There had been too many 'surprise' expenses.

Luckily for us, our B of M manager had other ideas. "Here's a real chance for you to save, and you're missing it," he smiled.

"Save? At a time like this?" we nearly shouted.

"Is not as hard as you think," he said, "I . . . quite a few of my customers do it."

"First, you have to put yourself a budget . . . You need a road map, if you're to know where you're going with your money. Here's a little booklet called "Personal Planning." Read it carefully. It shows you how to work out your own way of getting ahead, financially—and how to save regularly from now on."

"But how can we save in our present pickle?"

I asked him.

"Borrow against your bonds," he said. "You've got a steady job. After all, if you cash your bonds now, you'll have the money you need, but you won't have any savings left. If you use your bonds to borrow, you get them back by paying off your loan instalments. In other words, you're saving your savings. This is one of the times when borrowing is really saving."

"Our story has a happy ending, because our financial worries went out of the window before the stork flew in. Yes, our baby had a happy welcome. We paid back the loan. Now, we still have our bonds, we're living on a budget, and we're suited to our saving regularly.

Saving is the only way to move ahead of your worries, and stay ahead. And—sometimes—borrowing at the B of M is the best way to save. Find out how to save despite today's high prices. Ask for your copy of "Personal Planning" at your neighborhood B of M branch. It's yours for the asking.

NEWSPAPER KNOWLEDGE

By JOANNE HUNT
How many of us ever stop to read the daily newspaper, other than to glance over the front headlines and then to turn to the comic section to see what the famous hero "Hopalong Cassidy" is doing now? I used to be one of these offenders.

For instance, "Ottawa Report" is a good source of political information. All the younger generation should take an interest in politics because some day in the very near future, good government is going to be our concern. An article that should have been noted by all who live in the western democracies was one written by a pro-democratic citizen used to leave Canada. He said that his citizenship had been taken from him in the Czechoslovakia, Austria and Germany. He was Walter Pavukoff, son, as well as being of human interest, it stimulated the reader to question their law enforcement body.

USEFUL.
The articles of famous columnists such as Marnie Malone, and the "Ottawa Report" talked about children and allowances and some of the material covered was used in an Effective Living debate. Noting that a whole page was devoted to the operation and importance of banks. This could be used in a commercial class. Music and the arts in general could be read by those interested in the further development of culture. We learned or wrote student aid to Crippled Children, through a reporter's tribute to their "Mardi Gras in Havana."

The Week End Magazine has been a favorite. Recently in one of them were some beautiful color photos of the Coronation Regalia; both photography, splendour, and grandeur of the ceremony. We noted it pictured students at Texas Christian University had to perform. Let's see Miss Cleopatra doesn't she, eh girls?

DEMYSTIFY.
Last but certainly not least, is "Letters to the Editor." This is a democracy's way of expressing its wants and needs. (Why not write words to this?) Let's all resolve to read the newspapers and keep abreast of the times, so that when we become tomorrow's citizens we will be all qualified, informed and honest, worthy of living in such a fine country as Canada.

PERSONALITIES

Audrey
Audrey Grayley is a well known Grade 11 student who has attended Semiham for almost five years. She was born in Calgary but moved away while very young and now she has lived in numerous B.C. and Alberta towns, including Lethbridge and Moose Jaw.
Audrey is now living in Vancouver where she has been for a half and a half year. She is 17 years old and approximately five feet three inches in height; she has dark brown hair and hazel eyes.
Audrey's subject is Math and her favorite sports are basketball and swimming.

"LES"
Leslie James Fowler was born in Vancouver General Hospital on November 30, 1937. He lived in Crescent until he was three years old and then moved to Ocean Falls. In three years time he returned to Crescent, and has lived there ever since. Les chose basketball as his favorite sport and has been an active part in the Intermediate B Boys basketball team. He plays the piano and his favorite pastime is singing "SOLO" with Keith Gordon. He is a very quiet and reserved subject. As far as girls go, he has nothing in particular and is not interested in them very much. If you don't happen to know him and his character talking backwards to his pal Keith—that's Les.

PLAIN CHAIR

It seems that Ernie Fairhair has some competition in his young brother, Ray. I think the whole lot in the gym that day, when after popular request, Ray was put on the floor to aid the White House Junior boys vanquish the Red House Junior boys. It took a lot of in vain but at the last moment, Ray sunk a beautiful shot to break the tie like lead White House to an 8-7 victory.

The girls are still wondering what happened to those very nice kid boys? It seems that as soon as they valued their approval they immediately stopped. Semi's "All-Star" played very good ball at the "All-Star" game last Thursday night. The school can be well proud of them. Anne scored points to help the team. The girls' team won. Ernie scored with the men's coaches 45-35. Mr. Vogler and Mr. Clark.

Miss Clarke reports "no casualties" from the Home Economics classes dinner. She says that the winners went off very well and that the girls are very happy. "Congratulations" to the Badminton Club can at last be said. They're in the chips; thanks to a meeting being held in the school the same night.

The Air Cadets are holding a dance in the Langley High school gym February 9.

Everybody welcome.

SENIOR BOYS HOLD TWEEDSMUIR DOWN TO FIVE POINT WIN

Our Senior Boys played one of their closest games of the year last Friday night, managing to lose to the host team in the league by only five points.

In the first quarter both teams had some good moments of playing, scoring on some quick passing plays, but on the whole neither team seemed to be able to play up to their usual ability, and quite often they passed too close to the basket and the ball was intercepted.

BAD PASSING
Tweedsmuir also had trouble with their passing attack throughout the game. They use a fast break most of the time and Semiham stopped them from scoring time after time.

The quarter ended with Tweedsmuir holding a 11-9 lead. Most of Semiham's points in this quarter were scored by Ed Terry who also picked up four fouls within a few minutes. He had to be used sparingly for the remainder of the game.

GO WILD
The second quarter was Semiham's downfall. They did not even look like a team at times. They shot too often and passing was wild. Too often Tweedsmuir broke through through sloppy checking and led to a few minutes of Semiham. Semiham made good to score only 4 points in this quarter. Tweedsmuir's leading only lasted till the end of the quarter, however, and they faded down to a goal half for the remainder of the game.

In the third quarter Semiham took advantage of Tweedsmuir's wild passing to pile up 10 points. The disappointing part of this quarter though, was that Tweedsmuir scored 11 points. In the last quarter Semiham played good basketball and were only 2 points behind with a few minutes left in the game. This small deficit carried over to the fourth quarter.

TERRY TOINS
Terry did not seem to be congratulated for holding Tweedsmuir down so well. The final score was 25-34. The boys provided Semiham's scoring punch were as follows: Ed Terry, 3; Ernie Fairhair, 3; Carl Wals, 6; Ron Murphy, 5; Ron Summers, 1.
Our next game is against North Surrey. They have a close game against Tweedsmuir we might end up on top.

In the Garden

By G. E. SERY, Garden Editor.

The Propagation of Seeds

Generally speaking, seeds retain full vitality for one or two years only in ordinary circumstances. From this we gather it is better to sow seeds as soon as convenient after ripening or in the Spring of the following year.

Seeds should be stored in a dark, cool place; it should be kept dry and above all, at even temperature. It is best placed in tins with tightly fitting lids or within aches of glass bottles, if kept in the dark, or in glass paper impervious to moisture. Soft absorbent paper is bad, as the seeds will either dry or shrivel up, or, if kept in too moist a place, will get damp and will rot. Do not leave the seeds in their pods as is so often advised for after a time the pods will dry up and draw both moisture and vitality from the seeds.

When saving seeds from the garden, they should not be gathered too early, but must be allowed ample time to ripen.

WEATHER FOR SOWING

Never sow in a cold wet soil. When until the ground has dried sufficiently and until the weather bids fair to be mild. It is false economy to sow before one feels sure of the weather, just on the off-chance of getting an extra early crop. Dry weather should, therefore, be an extra early sowing, and seed can be sown just before a gentle shower, so much the better.

Of course, there is a proper time for sowing for every kind of seed, but this cannot be specified in a series of general instructions which apply equally to all. The smaller the seed, the finer should be the soil in which it is sown.

The soil in which seed is sown should be tolerably dry, but not so crumbly that it will break up to crumble lightly when worked with the hand. It must not be too tight in a pasty mass. Place or position, whether in the open air or under protection—also forms an important factor in regard to time.

SOWING UNDER GLASS

The best early plants must be raised under glass, and the soil for these pans or boxes should contain a composition of two-thirds good loam and one-third leaf-mould, together with a good sprinkling of sharp sand. The compost should be sieved through a fine-meshed mesh and the soil for covering the seeds through a sieve even finer.

Mix the compost thoroughly, press it gently into the pot or box, and make a level surface just below the rim of the pot. The seed pans should be drained by means of "corks" or broken pots, and the boxes should have a thin layer of thoroughly decomposed manure or leaf-mould at the bottom. The seeds must be sown thinly in February or March, being watered afterwards, not with a can, but by the pots or pans being immersed nearly to the brim, the water in this way being able to soak up from the bottom.

Set the seed pans in a frame or greenhouse in moderate but steady heat (about 60°F.). A sheet of glass should be placed over the boxes, the glass in turn being covered with a sheet of brown paper to keep out the light. Each day the glass must be lifted so that the condensation may be wiped off, otherwise the seeds will be kept too moist.

No further water needs as a rule, be given until the seeds have germinated. As soon as a cold frame to harden off, and gradually allowed more and more air until they are planted out in the open in May or early June.

Sowing in the Open

PREPARING THE SEED-BED

The seed-beds for tender and choice plants should be sheltered from the north and east. The soil should be made as fine as possible, first by breaking up the lumps with a fork and then by raking it thoroughly until the earth is well pulverized. It should contain 10 to 20 per cent of sand—this will make it porous and will enable the air to penetrate freely through it.

If the soil is not made fine in this way, many of the seeds which are sown in between the clods and will not germinate; those that do come up have tiny roots parched, as there will be no fine soil through which they can work and so obtain nourishment and moisture. Too rich a soil must not be used, for the seedlings would become tall and straggly, instead of short and sturdy.

The bed must be pressed down firmly and left to settle for a few days before seeding. If the soil is too heavy, if dry, and sow the seed thinly in drills running north and south, and waterable, and from 6 to 12 inches apart. Thick sowing means that the seedlings will draw up and will be stolid; by thin sowing secure short, sturdy seedlings.

HOW DEEP TO SOW
Cover the seeds lightly with the sandy soil. The depth of covering required depends on the size of the seed. Minute seeds need hardly any covering, a mere sprinkling of sand is sufficient; medium-sized seeds must have a covering of a little less than half an inch each; and large seeds, such as the iris and peony, and also those like the seeds of the hellebore and phlox, which do not sprout the first year after sowing, can do with 1 to 1 1/2 inch of soil over them.

Few seeds require a covering of more than 1 inch in thickness. Seeds may be sown slightly deeper outdoors than under glass, as the rain is liable to wash out any with too sparse a covering. A good rule is to cover the seeds with a layer of earth twice their own thickness.

Do not pat down the soil after the seeds have been planted. Seeds sown in heavy soil must not be placed so deep as those planted in sandy loam, while in sandy soil a covering of nearly twice that given in a heavy soil will be required. Do not plant the seeds so deep, however, as if so planted and they ever reach the surface at all, they will have used up most of their strength and energy and will make weak and straggly seedlings. Should the soil of the seed-bed be very dry, the seeds may be soaked overnight in warm water.

Such treatment is necessary with plants like the anemone, auricula, polyanthus or primula. Shift the seedlings from the sun, after pricking-off, for the first few days.

In March or April the seedlings should be transferred to gradually allowed more and more air until they are planted out in the open in May or early June.

WATERING

THINNING-OUT AND TRANSPLANTING

In a month or so the seedlings should be about 2 inches high and will be large enough to be pricked-off. Do not delay thinning or transplanting of the seedlings will become weakly. The seed bed should be watered on the evening prior to thinning out.

The seedlings should be raised from the seed-bed by means of a small fork, each seedling may then be separated from its neighborhood without damage to its roots, and should be planted firmly in a hole made by a small trowel or dibble.

If, as in the case of carrots or onions, the seedlings are to be thinned and not transplanted, the fork is not used to raise them, but the unwanted seedlings are pulled up between the finger and thumb, and the soil pressed around the seedlings that are left.

If transplanting is done in the evening, the seedlings will have the cool night in which to recover, and will not be so liable to be scorched as when transplanted in the heat of the day.

BREAD — HOT AND FRAGRANT

Ancient art is gaining new popularity

The fragrance of bread, hot from the oven, is equalled in appeal only to the taste of these breads.

More and more women are getting back to the old art of bread baking, although bakers bread is still the most common among busy homemakers. With the new fast-tasting yeast and modern easy quick bread-making methods bakers are finding that baking can be fitted into her crowded schedule without strain on her time and energy reserves.

Bread is the most economical source of energy as well as vitamins such as B-vitamins and iron, in our diet and bread made with whole grain or enriched breads is doubly valuable nutritionally.

Breads, plain or toasted, fit well into any normal diet, from babyhood to old age. Almost 100 per cent digestible, breads are one of the first solid foods given to babies and invalids.

WHITE BREAD

This recipe and method makes a beautiful uniform loaf of white bread. For extra nutritive bread, use Canada Approved Flour.

- 2 cups milk
- 2 cups water
- 2 packages yeast
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 4 tablespoons shortening
- 11 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 egg, cold, add cold water.

Measure 1 cup of the liquid into a small bowl and cool to lukewarm. Add 2 teaspoons sugar, stir to dissolve and sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 15 minutes. To the remaining 3 cups liquid, add 4 tablespoons sugar and 4 tablespoons shortening. Stir until well mixed. Sift flour into large bowl. Pour liquid mixture and shortening into bowl. Stir until all flour is dampened, then mix by hand with a rotary swinging motion. In the bowl for 5 minutes. Turn dough onto a floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 minutes. Place in a well-greased bowl, grease top of dough and cover with waxed paper and a slightly dampened towel. Let rise at 75 to 85 degrees, turn over and let stand 15 minutes.

Grease 4 loaf pans. Cut dough into four even pieces. Form each piece into a ball. Roll each ball out to a rectangle about 9 x 12 inches. From the upper edge, roll dough at a jelly roll pressing out bubbles. Seal the dough at the bottom of the loaf. Seal ends and fold under. Put shaped loaves with sealed side into greased loaf pans. Cover with waxed paper.

paper and a slightly moist towel or cloth. Let rise until established at 75 to 85 degrees (for about 1 hour). Heat oven at this temperature for 15 minutes, then reduce the temperature to 375 degrees and bake about 35 minutes longer or until when you tap the loaf it sounds hollow. Remove from pans and cool on rack. Brush with melted butter or margarine and let cool uncovered. When bread is cold, store it in a clean well ventilated bread box.

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

To make Whole Wheat Bread, use the above recipe and substitute whole wheat flour for part of the white flour. Five cups of whole wheat flour to 4 cups of white will make good bread. In letting the bread rise, use a high as the white dough would. Darker brown bread is equal amount of brown sugar or molasses may be substituted for the white sugar.

BASIC SWEET DOUGH

Use this recipe for plain rolls or fancy breads all rolls.

- 2 packages yeast
- 1 cup lukewarm milk
- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 7 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour (about)

1/2 cup melted shortening (part butter may be used) Dissolve 2 teaspoons sugar in warm water and sprinkle yeast with yeast. Let stand 15 minutes. Add sugar, salt and well-beaten eggs to the lukewarm milk. Add to yeast mixture in a large bowl and let half the flour. Beat until mixture drops from spoon in sheets, 5 to 10 minutes. Stir in melted shortening. Stir in remaining flour, adding just enough to make a soft dough. Mix well. Knead until smooth and elastic. Form into a ball and place in a greased bowl. Grease top of dough. Cover with waxed paper and a slightly dampened towel or cloth. Let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Punch down. Let rise again for about 20 minutes. Divide as desired and form into rolls or loaves. Let rise until doubled in bulk and bake at 375 degrees.

SWEDISH TEA RING

Use 1/3 of the recipe of the sweet dough for this delightful ring. Brush 1/2 inch thick rectangle of the dough with melted butter or margarine. Spread with 1/6 ounce package mixed candied fruits. Roll narrow way of the rectangle. Transfer to a cookie sheet which has been greased and join ends to form a ring. Seal. Using kitchen scissors, snip 2 1/2 of the way through the roll at 1 inch intervals. Turn each cut section on its side. Cover with a damp towel. Let rise until doubled. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes.

minutes. While ring is still warm, glaze with corn syrup and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

MONEY TWIST

Use 1/3 of the basic sweet dough recipe. When dough is light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes. Shape into a long roll, about 1 inch in diameter. Roll the roll loosely into a greased 1/2 inch layer pan or an 8 x 8 inch square, beginning at the outer edge and continuing along the top. Add remaining 1/3 cup sugar and 1 egg. Beat until well mixed. Spread mixture over dough. Roll up dough into a tight roll. Cut into 1/2 inch slices. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

The Telephone Network is Expanding Rapidly

On display at

Each year we are spending millions of dollars to extend and improve our telephone system.

Underground and overhead, we are installing thousands of feet of telephone cable and wire. These are the "voice tracks" that carry your telephone conversations. Our largest cable, which contains 4200 line, paper-insulated wires, could carry as many as 2100 conversations at one time!

In addition to cable, we are stringing many miles of "open wire" on poles to serve our rural subscribers.

We are expanding our telephone system at a record-breaking rate, but still, like all other large telephone systems in Canada, we have a waiting list for service. Despite the increasing demand for telephone service, our list is now at its lowest point in seven years. We are advancing at an unprecedented rate.

Scout camp

By KEN WHITTLE

Are you tired? There was just a hint of pity in the quiet grin of Field Commissioner Jim Watson as he faced 46 bare-kneed Scouts squinting in horsehide formation on the floor of Canadian Legion Hall last Saturday. Commissioners were hardened up—Troop Alert and the grilling "Bronze Arrow" patrol leaders cowered in an agony.

The past two days had seen the boys out in the bush on compass work, judging distances and estimating heights in Canadian Legion Hall hearing and noting session after session. They were all in a sweat, signals were flashed and Queen's colours studied. Hence this vital question—Are you tired?

A large turnout of members is hoped for at this meeting in order to hear Scout officials being the Branch up to date.

Scout Training and as sponsors of Boy Scout 1st White Rock Troop was as a Branch in Scout activities are vitally interested.

Other items of business will be reports from special committees dealing with a number of important items which the members will be asked to decide at this meeting.

Report from Entertainment Committee indicates plans are well under way for the Valentine's Dance and Hoe-Down, scheduled for Saturday, February 14.
